Morgan,

It's extremely concerning that you continue to hide behind these orders, yet only seem to selectively follow them based on what's convenient for you.

While I appreciate your efforts to communicate Mara's medical information, your efforts are pointless, as this information could have been given by Mara as she is 8 and a half years old tomorrow and is old enough to explain her medical procedure regarding her eye to me.

If you want to actually be helpful and fulfill your role in the one-sided temporary orders, you'll need to actually follow them. Otherwise, please don't contact me again while I pursue litigation against you and your family that decided to implicate themselves in this disaster you've created.

Also - Caroline is nearly 7 years old, lives with all women, yet she comes to me every night she's here asking for a diaper as if there's no effort whatsoever to potty train her.

In the future, you'll need to contact me through an attorney - no - not Cooper Carter, an actual attorney. What you've done over the last year is unacceptable and will be resolved in accordance with the law. The divorce will likely be dismissed for DWOP given your representation has no ability to prosecute the case.

Even if she did - the blatant fabrication of the IFP you filled out with the assistance of Mr. Branthoover is grounds in and of itself to dismiss the case.

So while you're making your record for trying to be "helpful", you haven't been. You've been destructive, careless, and reckless, and will have to answer for your actions at some point.

If you're going to use the orders to prevent the girls from talking to their own family and father when requested, then the least you can do is follow the rest of the orders since that seems to be what you live by, as sad as that is given they were procured by deceit and fraud.

I had my childhood taken from me, and I will not let you get away with what you've done by taking advantage of the hard work I put in for your benefit and my detriment.

I told you in the beginning you would hurt more than just me and the girls, and you've done it. By involving Dan, Meme, and Caitlin, and by showing no remorse or efforts to realize the actual damage you've caused - I hope you understand that I've been put in a position to ensure everyone is properly adjudicated for their role in the destruction of the girls' status quo.

My mission is clear: shed light on what has happened, and seek damages from those responsible to ensure the girls' future remains stable.

Don't message me again unless it's an emergency related to the girls.

Subject: Read the Orders
To: Morgan Wilson <morganmw02@gmail.com>

Morgan,

You built your life around the orders you obtained by fraud, so it would serve you well to actually read them. If any of my property is missing or damaged—which the court explicitly protects as "personal property"—I will be filing a motion for contempt and contacting law enforcement. This will be escalated to criminal charges if necessary.

Legal Violations & Consequences

1. You are explicitly prohibited from destroying, concealing, selling, transferring, or otherwise disposing of any marital or separate property while the case is pending.
   - (Page 31, Section 6): "IT IS ORDERED that Petitioner and Respondent are enjoined from... destroying, removing, concealing, encumbering, transferring, or otherwise harming or reducing the value of the property of one or both of the parties.".
2. You are prohibited from altering, deleting, or disposing of financial records or electronically stored information related to marital assets.
   - (Page 33, Section 26): "Destroying, disposing of, or altering any email, text message, video message, or chat message, or other electronic data or electronically stored information relevant to the subject matter of this case.".
3. Marital and personal property includes but is not limited to furniture, electronics, jewelry, tools, firearms, digital assets, vehicles, and all other personal items.
   - (Page 36, Section v-u): The order explicitly lists household items, digital assets, collectibles, and vehicles as protected property.

If you so much as touch my property in an attempt to get rid of it, you will immediately be in contempt of court. This is not a threat. This is a legal fact.

Your Game Is Over

Your Game is Over

Morgan, your entire case has been built on lies, deception, and fraudulent claims, and it's finally catching up with you. Your only evidence consists of fabricated text messages and baseless accusations that you haven't even backed up with official filings. You can cry "abuse" all you want, but reality doesn't bend to your delusions, and no jury will ever buy your case, because IT ISN'T ABOUT YOU. IT'S ABOUT THE KIDS.

You can't run to your grandparents or manipulate people into covering for you this time. You think you have power, but you don't. You think you're in control, but you're playing checkers in a chess match you've already lost.

Let's be clear

- You lied to the court to obtain the orders you constantly reference and hold over my head, yet have no problem blatantly violating them.
- You ignored child support enforcement because your attorney can't prosecute the case.
- You violated the very same orders you praise because reality has finally started to corner you.

You cannot win. And I am admitted into two federal courts for a reason. The exact courts I need to hold you and Dan accountable for what you have done to our children IF I MUST DO SO.

I'm admitted into two federal courts right now for a reason, and the exact courts I need to be admitted into in order to hold you - and Dan - accountable for destroying the lives of my daughters - OUR daughters.

I filed every motion with a specific strategic intent, which was to ensure our children are protected, and you have not filed a single response, argument, or defense against them.

I have been more than merciful with you in my requests for relief because it's best for the kids. You have been downright vile, malicious, and honestly childish.

These emails come off as a threat to you - a nuisance - but it's the only way I'm able to communicate given your complete detachment from reality.

I honestly don't care about your feelings Morgan. Not anymore. I care about my kids, and one day - whether it's now - or much later in the future - you'll realize that.

If I were really out to get you, why would I file a motion to dismiss, and not a motion for sanctions, contempt, or call the police and report your crimes?

BECAUSE IT'S NOT BEST FOR THE KIDS.

Wake up Morgan. You've been asleep since November 30th, 2023. It is now February 2nd, 2025, we've been married for almost ten years, are nowhere close to getting divorced, and if my personal belongings are disposed of, it will only make the process take even longer.

CC Your attorney, I don't care. She's procedurally check-mated, and she knows it. This has all been strategy, and you have no moves left.

I would imagine she values her legal career over this dumpster fire of a case.

So either take the loss, discuss this with me like an adult, like the partner and best friend I've had for the last decade, or continue this path of destruction with no end in sight, no plan, and with no regard to our children.

I've already had everything taken from me, so I have nothing left to lose - and everything to gain.

Why would you not take this offer after everything you've done?

What are you so scared of? Facing it? Look what I've had to do the last year - did you think I wasn't scared when I had to go into court in front of you and your friends who barely know me and argue with a judge to fight for my children and rights?

It's okay to be scared of Morgan. But you have to remember, even after all of this - it changes nothing about who I am, who we were, and what we built for our kids.

Please make the right decision here. This can start turning around as quickly as it started.

The choice is YOURS.

At the end of the day, we both lost. So let's get over it and start showing our kids we can do what's right by them.

This is the way.

Charlie,

Your Husband

Makes sense.

This is not looking good.

Not only has Dan violated multiple protective orders in the past, but he's already plead guilty to similar conduct in the past, revealing a pattern of behavior.

You also fabricated the affidavit of inability to pay, which makes the case Dismissable under the Texas practice and remedies code and is a class C MISDEMEANOR.

You claimed both kids as dependants

Don't say I didn't give you every opportunity to correct this.

Now it's on you.

Oklahoma takes conspiracy to commit fraud very seriously.

Morgan,

Given your accomplice's most recent threat, I will not be picking up the girls tomorrow.

It is unclear what Dan means by his latest threat, so for my own safety and the girls own safety, i will not be subjecting them to any potential violence.

Its crazy to think that you of all people would go to this level of egregiousness. Ironically, you're just strengthening me and the girls relationship long term and destroying yours.

Its blatantly obvious to anyone not involved in this to see how disgusting you all are acting.

You must have forgotten who I am if you thought I was going to do anything but fight for what's right.

I've always done what I told you I was going to do. Here is no different.

We won't be getting divorced anytime soon, and you have yourself to thank for that alongside your accomplice.

I've been totally up front with you regarding my actions in court yet you keep taking them as threats.

But in reality the threats keep coming from Dan, and you somehow think this helps your case?

Now I can't even see my kids because I don't know what he means by "Deal with me" and what he's referring to when he says "When things all over."

I will not subject the girls to this possibility of violence, and this has been duly noted.

Stop letting a criminal influence your decisions. Look at the resulting situation.

Tell the girls i love them.

Maybe have them call every once in awhile, you know, through normal means. The only reason I'm not there now with my children is for the simple reason that you won't let me.

The court order is void Morgan. It has no legal effect. This will never change especially given what's happened since it was first drafted.

All right then..

I guess there's no hope.

Just keep in mind with this logic you're basically guaranteeing that they won't get to talk to you on Christmas if i cant get this fixed by then.. which makes no sense. I'll have them call because it's the right thing to do.. through my normal phone.

Guess this is the way it's gonna be, so be it.

Have a good night.

Tell the girls I love and miss them.

I'm requesting the court strike all pleadings prior to January 22nd, 2024 other than the rule 12 motion to show authority and the summary judgement, and am asking for a reasonable amount of time to transition which is what I've asked for since the beginning.

Not requesting any injunction or custody determinations until a hearing on the merits can be held, and im requesting the court dispense with the necessity of a bond on behalf of the kids and on behalf of us to preserve the status quo that's been destroyed without a second thought.

Nothing against you just gotta do what I gotta do for the kids since nobody wants to communicate and pretends like the current situation is what's best for them.

So I ask to talk to our Children.. all the time. They NEVER call me. Only if I ask you first.

I get them phones for the purpose of being able to talk to them and so other members of my family can talk to them during the week also.. but they never use them.

I don't understand what else I can do to try and have a relationship with our kids during this horrible time..

And then when I do get to talk to them.. you're always there hovering, whispering in the background as if they wouldn't know what to say if you weren't helping them talk to me.

When the tables are turned, I won't be this way. I'll foster a relationship between you and them and encourage you to have a relationship and have them call you.

Just don't understand the point of this. If it's to hurt me, yeah it works. But you're also hurting them, too.

I'll be homeless in 3 weeks. I'm not asking for sympathy just letting you know in case I have to give up my summer visitation with them.

I'm going to try and figure something out by then, but it's not looking good considering my income is down over 65% from Feb 1st, and don't make enough now to qualify for a house.

Just wish I could talk to my kids without it being a chore.

If possible.. please tell them I love them, and miss them very much.. that's all I want is for them to hear that as much as possible.

e Meth Story That Brought Me Glory, My Unique Road That I Dont Understand

chuckfudin12 · May 10, 2017 · 6 min read · 0 views · Main ello All, his is my first post on this site and I apologize in advance for its length.

hen I was eighteen years old. I lived with my very controlling father. I had lived with him most of my life after my parents split up. d I always feared him. Like most teens. I tried cigarettes and loved it, and shit smoke it to this very day its aid me with sleeping. hat sets me aside from most people is that my own family is who enabled it. I would visit my mother on weekends, and my stepdad the time smoked heavily. Eventually, he thought I was old enough to partake, and he came into my room when I was over one weekend, and offered me a cigarette. I hesitantly accepted, and joined him in the garage. What I didn't know, was that the cigarette as a blunt. After about three minutes I felt my head start to feel very light, and my body started feeling very strange. I told him I felt ared and went to go lay down. A few weekends passed and every time I'd come over he would ask if I wanted to smoke again, and I id no the first couple of times, and then on the third I gave in and smoked. From then on I was a "stoner" and would later try ADD ediciew, Ecstasy, cocaine, and finally... meth.

tried meth for the first time with my older brother when I was 17. Come to find out, my mother also smoked it. I had no idea up until is point. After smoking it and only feeling similar effects from what I felt from adderal, I wasnt all that impressed. I remember my ather holding the pipe for me because I didnt even know how to take a hit. He explained it several times but I just never understood first. After a few months of smoking it with him every now and then, the cat got let out of the bag to my mom. Of course, at first, e was upset, but couldnt really do anything because of her own usage. They would always go into their bedroom when I was over owing up, and lock themselves away. And I finally realized thats what they must have been doing this whole time. So after I started ting, I would ask to join them. I got denyed at first, but eventually, they let me come in and thus began the family meth bonding.

dont want to bore you guys with too much detail, so I will try to be more to the point from here on out.

etty much, eventually my moms dealer became my dealer, my dad started to find paraphernalia in my closet (like hollowed out pens d baggies). One night, I was on my way downstairs at my fathers, and I heard him and my stepmom talking.

e needs to go to rehab," I heard my stepmom say.
et me talk to him first, but I agree, we will take him tomorrow." My dad replied.

y heart sank. I had no idea where my life was going and hated every aspect of it and now I was about to be admitted. I immediately ded my mom and told her what I had heard, and this was just after I had turned 20 and was enrolled in community college. That ght I ran away to her apartment, where I would live for the next two years and where my life would change forever.

had a job at the time, and upon my arrival I dropped out of college to work full time. This is when the Meth use became daily. With y mom, her new boyfriend, and my older brother and sister-in law who all smoked living near and around me, I almost never ran out. ilus the dealer we have is extremely rare in the fact he gives A LOT more than what you pay for, and has consistently had it available r almost seven years now.)

ng story shortish. I carried a pipe with me to work every single day, and smoked in the bathroom every single day. I became one of e most liked employees in our district, and eventually worked my way up to restaurant manager. Once I became a manager my boss ecided it was time for me to switch locations, so I didnt have to manage the people I had already been working with for so long as an ual. Once I switched, I met my wife (one of my servers at the time). As soon as I saw her for the first time, I felt something that I uld not explain. Two weeks after that, we hung out for the first time, and two weeks after that we fell in love. Four months after that moved into her house, and then we got our own apartment for a year. At the end of that year, she became pregnant, we lost the yolk ick a few weeks in, and we decided we would try again, but we wanted to get married first. Someone, the girl I fell in love with lives ndoor to her grandparents, and her grandfather is a pastor at the church that they own. Her grandparents decided to have a autiful wedding for us in their backyard, and offered us a great deal if we moved back to my wife's house (owned by the andparents). We could not turn it down knowing that we wanted a child soon, and then shortly after moving in, my wife became egnant again. This time, 10 months later, my beautiful daughter was born 100% healthy. She is now 11 months old and is the most autiful thing I have ever laid eyes on. I am now a stay at home dad and have smoked meth every single day from when I met my ife until now. She has no idea. The guilt is killing me and has been for some time, but I am now in a position in my life where I should e able to stop. I've been trying to taper off for over a year now, and so far my progress is moving. For six years I smoked whenever, ayed up late, and didnt sleep much. Lately, since married, I have not smoked after 3pm so that I can sleep with my wife and get up r my daughter in the mornings.

feel like meth helped me create my family, and now that I have them, I dont want meth to also help destroy it. All it would take is e police officer finding it on my way home from my dealer and it'd all be over. I dont know what the next step is, but I know I can do ithout treatment. I've came a long way, and dont want to lie to my wife or daughter, or everyone in my life anymore by hiding it. I am on telling my wife about my usage, but only after I have stopped. I dont think she will leave me, as I have tried to be a good rson and felt like I have succeeded in that other than the deceptive drug use that has played such an interesting role in my life. I el like I was meant to use this substance, as it was undoubtedly avoidable given my circumstances, and after seeing all the positive hanges occur in my life, I didnt feel the need to stop. But for almost two years now I have wanted to, because there is nothing else to ain from it, only everything to lose.

ease inform me if I am on the right track, because all I want is whats best for my family.
you need anymore details or information, let me know.

anks for reading guys.
n sorry if my writing sucks. I was trying to spill 8 years of information into a thread without boring the community in the process.

RealyRealyRenee I am 26 years old. And I agree with you, as long as you dont let whatever poison of choice consume your life, there isnt much of a difference. And yeah my biggest issue that meth has caused in my life is the guilt. Im thinking about telling her soon, so i can have her support in quitting. I could be wrong, but if it weren't for meth i wouldive never met her, because i wouldve never gotten so focused on work. Its crazy man.. most people talk about how meth has destroyed lives, yet in my experience it has built mine. I didnt believe in god until he came to me in such an unorthodox fashion.

Polyclot · May 13, 2017
I am proud of you. Your goals are on point and i believe you are capable. Maybe a prescription for add meds would be a good segue into your new life.

Cruldm · Aug 20, 2017
Why the guilt? Obviously the secrecy of your habit from your wife, whom clearly you love. Also the legal trouble you could wind up in, if you were caught and exposed. Neither is trivial. Yes, not to play the devil's advocate, have you considered the possible negative consequences of admitting the truth? We all, I'm guessing, have our secrets. Meth is maybe a hardcore one, at least by conventional standards. What am I trying to say here? I'm not sure. I guess I was surprised when you said that you've been married to your wife 10 years and she doesn't know that you use meth, and I'm inferring, since you were a meth user when you first met her, she's always known you, without being aware of it, as one. Seems less dishonest or disloyal or reckless, by a longshot, than if you had started using the drug years after you were married, or after you'd had children. In any case, not to sound glib, but perhaps what she doesn't know won't hurt her. Seems to me that your heart is in the right place so long as your drug use doesn't start creating problems/and or you continue to gradually cut back until you don't use anymore, which, if you could pull it off, would be as if you never did. Then a year or so after you've been clean, so long as all is well in paradise, broach the subject. I hope that wasn't ridiculous advice.

Morgan,

I only need you to put the bags outside on the days I'm able to see our daughters.

I am fully aware of the girls school events, their obligations, and what she needs to do.

Given that you havent had the girls call on your own accord since the beginning, there's no need for you to contact me unless it's an emergency or if your intent is to start approaching this from an adult mindset and whats best for our kids, or if you actually plan to start facilitating a relationship by encouraging contact.

Until then, I'm still pursuing relief and if I need any information regarding the girls I will contact the school or check their website.

I will get them when I can.

Every 1st 3rd and 5th, and on Thursdays. If I won't be getting them on a Thursday, I'll let you know the day prior to ensure you are kept updated.

Everything else is irrelevant.

Also, Mara missed school today and you forgot to mention it.

I'll be getting the girls on Thursday depending on if I can get the suit filed against Dan. I'll let you know here by Wednesday at 6pm if I'll be coming.

Thanks

Keeping you updated, since you still aren't able to see my messages in AppClose.

Mara has a few things coming up. This Thursday, December 12th, is the 3rd grade program. It's at the school at 6pm. She has a small speaking part. She also has a field trip to see the Nutcracker on Friday, December 13th. No chaperones needed, and her ticket has already been paid for. They leave in the morning, and are back by 1pm.

Due to the program, we need to make a plan for your Thursday visitation. If you still plan to pick them up from school, I will pack the clothes Mara needs to wear in her backpack so she can change. You will need to get her back to the school at 5:30. I will be there at 5:30 so I can fix her hair, if needed.

She also has a solar system project due on January 7th. Since the girls will be with you during most of the break, I'd appreciate it if you made sure she spent some time working on it. There were multiple options for how she wanted to present it, and she chose powerpoint. Let her log into Canvas on any computer, and the tools she needs to complete it are there. I'll help her after she gets back home on the 28th. The info page for the project will be in her binder for reference.

Here's the link for Canvas if you don't already have it bookmarked:
https://launchpad.classlink.com/bisdtx

The holiday shop is going on this week at the school that the girls can shop at and buy gifts for family. If you want to send them with money, or shop with them during lunch, it closes mid-day on Friday.

Lastly, their class Christmas parties are next week. If you want to volunteer or provide snacks for the class, please email their teachers. I will not be able to attend due to work. Here are their teachers email addresses:

Hey,

The federal case had posted.

I'm sorry about what I said last night.

I was angry and shouldn't have threatened CPS.

Just please done leave the girls alone and talk to Caitlin about punishment.

I'm reaching out to let you know the case has posted and you have 14 days to comply.

I just want to make sure the process is fair for you and you're aware.

Our case number is 4:24-cv-01185.

I'm going to be filing suit against Dan seeking damages for the amount disclosed last email.

Again, sorry about CPS. I shouldn't have done that. We both know CPS is horrible.

But still.. I am very concerned about the kids.

I'll be picking them up after school today and will bring them back Sunday.

Have a good afternoon.

Hello,

While I appreciate your transparency, it's interesting that you wish to follow the orders when convenient for you, however, refuse to have our daughter call for multiple days around a critical time of year such as thanksgiving.

As far as your attorney, her authority has still not been proven, so it is unclear who is actually representing you.

2. As far as documentation, you have failed to respond to the discovery request served back on September 19th, 2024, which included admissions.

When a party fails to respond to a request for admissions, the requests are deemed admitted "without the necessity of a court order." Tex.R.Civ.P. 198.2(c). Admissions of fact on file at the time of a summary judgment hearing constitute competent summary judgment evidence. Acevedo v. Comm'n for Lawyer Discipline, 131 S.W.3d 99, 105 (Tex. App.-San Antonio 2004, pet. denied); Mackie v. Guthrie, 78 S.W.3d 462, 468 (Tex. App.-Tyler 2001, pet. denied) (citing Tex.R.Civ.P. 166a(c)).

There is a pending summary judgement which is also unresponded to, filed and served on February 22nd, 2024.

This means that all admissions of fact will be admitted into evidence at the summary judgement hearing should the Federal District Court for the Northern District of Texas remand the case for lack of jurisdiction.

The summary judgement hearing is the oldest motion on record, and will be the first motion scheduled for hearing if necessary on remand.

3. As far as the orders are concerned, they also state the following:

*That the marital address is 6641 Anns Court, which is not correct. This was pointed out prior to its rendition, and no amendment has been filed.

*That the parties must take the parenting class and file a notice of completion with the court, which you failed to do.

*That the Petitioner receive exclusive use of the residency pending the divorce. In Pennsylvania, Texas, New Jersey, and most other states in the US, there's an administrative order known as the status quo, which requires the soon-to-be ex-spouses to shun from disrupting the norm created throughout the length of the marriage. "Exclusive" - meaning excluding or not admitting other things. By moving in your sister to the residence, you are not "exclusively" using the marital home with the children.

*That the Petitioner acquire healthcare for the children - there has been no indication that this has occurred.

*That the Petitioner pay monthly rent costs to Margie Wilson. This has not been occurring as ordered as evidenced by documentation from Margie Wilson given in June of 2024.

* That I agree to the orders, as evidenced by a signature that doesn't exist.

You can keep attempting to bury your wrongdoings and the reality of this situation, but until all of the above are followed, the texting over AppClose should be the least of your worries.

I will be picking up the girls on Thursday after school.

Have a good evening.

I have CC'd your attorney for transparency and for my own documentation.

Morgan,

Just as a final reminder - here's the reality of damage you've caused yet remain completely silent on. None of this will just go away despite your current set-up with the false sense of security granted to you by the court:

MONETARY:

1. Lost Income

- Income at the start of the divorce: $4,600
- Current monthly income: $2,000
- Monthly income loss: $2,600/month and gaining.
- Duration of income loss: 12 months
- Total lost income: $2,600 × 12 = $31,200 + forward looking losses

2. Living Expenses

- Airbnb costs (to remain near my daughters) for as long as possible: $14,000
- Hotel Costs: $960.45
- Total increased living expenses: $14,000 + $960.45 = $14,960.45

3. Travel and Transportation Costs

- Tolls for visitation and transportation to see daughters: $1,800
- Car repairs caused by wife's damage: $1,600
- Total travel and transportation costs: $1,800 + $1,600 = $3,400

4. Misappropriated Funds

- Funds stolen from joint account by Morgan and Dan Branthoover: $1,576

5. Business Opportunity Cost

- Estimated lost revenue from business opportunities and advertisements: $46,000

---

6. Legal and Related Costs

- Legal fees and associated costs related to this situation: $3,000

7. Emotional Distress

- The financial and physical strain from being displaced, combined with the emotional distress of limited access to my daughters, has caused significant emotional harm. A claim for emotional damages in the amount of $1,000 is being sought per month that this continues or until justification is provided.

  Start = March 6th, 2024.
  today = December 5th, 2024.
  As of tomorrow, totaling to: $11,000

Total amount in emotional distress: $11,000

8. Punitive Damages

- To address and deter malicious or negligent actions. $50,000.

Total Damages

- Lost Income: $31,200
- Living Expenses: $14,960.45
- Travel and Transportation Costs: $3,400
- Misappropriated Funds: $1,576
- Business Opportunity Cost: $13,000
- Legal and Related Costs: $5,000
- Emotional Distress: $11,000
- Punitive Damages: $50,000

Total Damages: $123,136.45

How is this destruction what's best for our kids?

CIVIL:

1. I will be contacting child protective services to open an investigation for the foregoing:

a. reports of the children being hurt by Caitlin, grabbing their arms.

b. the children being left home alone at night without an adult present.

This is inexscusable.

CRIMINAL:

- Conspiracy to Commit Fraud (Interstate Crime):
  On December 14, 2023, you attempted to have me illegally removed from the marital home. This was not due to violence or any legitimate cause, but because I uncovered the unhealthy volume of communications between you, Debbie, and Damen, revealing your deceptive behavior and abandonment of marital responsibilities waived off as 'emotional support'.
  - Text records evidence daily, excessive correspondence with those two individuals, and other records prove a "meeting of the minds" with your grandparents and Dan Branthoover, who actively assisted you in defrauding the court.
  - Interstate Travel for Fraudulent Purposes: You crossed state lines to recieve assistance in drafting falsified paperwork, directly causing my removal from the home. This constitutes interstate fraud and conspiracy, a federal offense.
  - Your argument of "emotional support" is not believable especially given your infidelity in the past.
- Defrauding the Marital Estate:
  You deliberately removed $1,576 from the marital estate under false pretenses. This theft was malicious, unjustified, and completely disregarded our children's welfare around the Christmas holidays.
- False Indigence Declaration:
  You misled the court by falsely claiming indigence, despite clear evidence that you had access to sufficient funds. This fraudulent act constitutes perjury, as it was intended to gain unlawful advantage through the court system.
- Malicious Conduct with Intent to Harm:
  Your actions were not isolated incidents but part of a larger pattern of calculated, malicious behavior designed to paint yourself as a victim while disregarding the truth and well-being of your family. These actions demonstrate a willful disregard for legal, moral, and parental responsibilities.

Child Neglect:

- Your actions demonstrate a willful disregard for the well-being of our children, including but not limited to:
  - Financial Neglect: You maliciously removed marital funds, depriving our children of basic financial support during the holidays.
  - Emotional Neglect: Your preoccupation with deceptive actions and conspiracies left our children without the parental stability and care they deserve.
  - Intentional Disruption: By orchestrating my removal from the home, you knowingly caused emotional distress and instability to our children, prioritizing your fraudulent schemes over their needs.

Under Texas law, it is a crime to not report child neglect, so unless you are ready to start acting like an adult and address the above,

You've destroyed the status quo of our children, and attempted to reduce me to a child support payment, which ultimately failed.

You have until December 13th, 2024 to either explain how all of the above are incorrect and provide details of how this situation is what's best for anyone. I will be contacting Child Protective Services regardless given the reports of physical abuse taking place.

I'm not pursuing legal action against your attorney at this time given she was an unfortunate victim in all of this as well.

There's no amount of evidence or time that will absolve you of your actions. You must choose between right and wrong, or face the consequences.

If the tables were turned, I'd never allow what has transpired to happen - even if I felt "threatened" by you.

Make the call.

Charlie

Hey,

Just so you know - if you've been replying or sending me emails - I have you blocked.

The reason for this is you provide nothing for this co parenting relationship of value. You're just a toxic human being with no regard for anyone but yourself.

You aren't even a a parent anymore.

What part of your brain thinks you're doing the right thing?

You realize you're still sleeping on the bed my mom gave us, so why haven't you thrown that out to the curb? Because you need it?

Our kids have neither parent now. You're making less than I made before you destroyed everything, and you are doing EXACTLY what I said you would in the beginning.. using your grandparents just like you always have.

Three reminders:

1. I still live at 6641 Anne Ct, Watauga, TX 76148.

2. We will not be divorced until you're held accountable by either the judges or a jury trial.

3. You had an affair, got caught, and this is all a ruse to escape accountability.

Attached will be the evidence showing that you took my personal property and threw it on the curb, clearly with anger.

Despite all of this, I still pray for you each night.

As stated in the temporary orders, I was given exclusive use of 6641 Anne Ct. There is no "community property". That being said, it will not be used as a storage location for your belongings. As a courtesy, I loaded all of your things into the Mazda3 that you left in the drive way to stay out of the weather and protected, while not being stored in the house.

When you took those belongings out of the car when you came to pick it up on January 30, 2025, it was then assumed to be abandoned property, and put on the curb for trash pick up this coming Tuesday, February 4th. You have an opportunity to collect your things when you drop the girls off either with me or at school. Until then, they will be treated as abandoned property.

Also. If for any reason you aren't able to pick up the girls from school on your scheduled days, contact me so I can make arrangements. Do not contact my family again.

Thank you.

You will need to start making plans for Caitlin to move out, and you may live with meme while I transition out.

That's your call.

All ill be doing is working and taking care of the kids while i find a nearby place, you can do what you want.

I'm confident meme and papaw will be amicable for the kids as well.

I'm only requesting ten months and that's extremely generous given the circumstances.

Its the first thing she said when I picked her up.

Also, what you're doing with Damen is sickening.

They both specifically told me you're claiming we are divorced, that Damen is your new boyfriend, and that you kiss him in front of them. Have you stopped to think about how this affects them? I didn't even ask. They brought it up because it makes them uncomfortable.. which any person with normal morals would understand.

I mean.. gaslighting the kids now too? Really? We are not divorced.. and wont be until you're held accountable for what you've done.. you know this.

This just further showcases your complete disregard for their emotional well being and proves exactly what you swore up and down wasn't going on when I originally discovered the extent of your communication with Damen and Debbie.

I'll keep you updated about Maras stomach, but wow.. truly disturbing behavior. What a class act you've found there.

Its going to be interesting next time we are in court for sure given we haven't been since March 14, 2024.

You're either lying to Damen also about us being divorced, or you're just completely devoid of any typical human compassion and empathy.

This is where a jury trial will help, because nobody in their right mind would look at this situation and say that what's happened is in the kids best interests.

Mara just went to the bathroom so hopefully that's all it was.

If anything else comes up I'll let you know.

You have a one track mind.

The orders are void.

Maybe you should get your attorney to prosecute your case.

Your whole existence depends on these orders that you don't even follow and that you lied to obtain.

Its truly pathetic.

You can't win this case. Period.

The longer you keep pretending, the worse it's going to be for all of us.

If only you could think for yourself we wouldn't even be in this spot.

Think past the next 5 minutes and realize the reality of the situation you've created.

Those orders are cookie cutter orders that are not in the best interests of our kids. They're in the best interest of you, which isn't a thing.

Grow up and take the parenting class that "tHe oRdeRs sAy" maybe you'll learn something.

You need to re assess yourself.

Time is almost up.

I gave you more than enough.

I did what i needed to do for me. But what about you? What have you learned and accomplished in the last year?

Your mind would be blown if you could only fathom what I've done in the last year.

The best part? I learned who you really are and that I don't need you, only them.

We need to seriously talk.

I developed a trading algorithm that a company called tradytics wants to purchase to provide an initial line of equity for $1.6 million dollars after a 6 month testing period to power their upcoming products.

I'm signing an NDA tomorrow at noon and won't be able to discuss any details after then.

That means in July they'll be read to close if everything goes well, and will extend the line of equity on a 2 year contract netting $800,000 per year minus taxes.

This is serious money that our kids and we could benefit from despite the divorce.

I've been working nearly 20 hour days trying to survive in the current situation, they know about the divorce, and want it finalized before moving forward.

Also, if you're going to keep up this current narrative, I'm going to have to schedule depositions with you, Damen, and Debbie, and Caitlin with a court reporter somewhere in Tarrant county as soon as possible so I can get answers regarding the 16,500 text messages exchanged from October 2022 to December 2023 and other matters. I'll serve you an official request through the EFM so you'll have all of the details.

If I don't hear anything by Friday I'll have to issue subpoenas which I'd really prefer not to do.

I've tried to contact cooper regarding this, but as always she never replies.

I'd like to have it scheduled and done by the end of the week of the 20th, because I also have Dan's lawsuit to handle as well.

Thanks and have a good day.

we would essentially distribute real-time strategies to employ the trading that users can select from - which will query the corresponding database based on their selection and find opportunities so this would be a slice of a strategy that we could mix with another stored in another database. they connect together when market conditions become available (edited)

Do you think it makes sense to introduce only one strategy first? and then once users start getting a hang of it, and we build our platform around it, we introduce a full portfolio of them?

FUDSTOP 01/09/2025 12:30 AM absolutely, and i have just the one!

or if there are any youd wanna go with too, whichever is good with me just so long as they work 😄

Blotter 01/09/2025 12:30 AM

yep you decide it, my only 2 cents would be that it needs to be of a day trade because people get to see their profits and it c more virality

I wrote a msg and then my browser refreshes lol, let me write it again.

Here are some concrete things I have in my mind.

- I can put an X amount in a portfolio, and we trade it with your trades. You keep 30% for now (happy to change this number), and I incur any losses.
- 10% of ALL blotter revenue goes to you for the next 6 months, we can revise the number after that (revenue is not that much right now just FYI :P, but we can work together to increase it)
- We do a trading session with Tradytics 100k community every week or two, and help traders learn to use data. This will allow us to merge FUD, BLOTTER & TRADYTICS. We just have to make sure that we're using all three tools to showcase the impact so that we can have users everywhere.
- You get a dedicated section in blotter's discord and tradytics discord (you and strong) for questions, teaching etc.

Let me know if there are things you'd like changed/added/removed

And ofcourse add live trading on top.

If you know Umar Ashraf, he's a good friend, and is willing to invest in Blotter. If things take off, we can have him onboard as well

FUDSTOP 01/08/2025 5:19 PM

This is great. Lemme process this for a minute but I'm willing to do what's needed of me, and provide what's needed to make it work.

Blotter 01/08/2025 5:21 PM

Take your time, discuss with strong as well since i'd love to have you both. I can't let go of the thought that stocktwits has 5 million users and is almost unusable at times. There's a huge opportunity in the social media space that no one is targeting.

One final thing, I'd be happy to offer some equity as well but I n atleast 6 months for that, still learning all kinds of legalities a giving equity, and similar things.

FUDSTOP 01/09/2025 12:31 AM

yeah these wont be instant snipers, more or less day-swingers but will be provided with intra-day instructions

Blotter 01/09/2025 12:31 AM

we want to get to a stage where there's minimal work at users end, and once the market is over, they see 1-2% profits (i know a bit unusual but atleast for targeting). That is what will sell the platform like crazy and we must do options

FUDSTOP 01/09/2025 12:32 AM

overall win rate is 81-85%.

yeah i agree man.

definitely options

Blotter 01/09/2025 12:32 AM

love it! let me start working on the tradier part. please do spend some more time on the legal side. what happens if we miss a trade's exit and the user incurs a bit of loss, can they sue? i know we will have them agree to terms and everything but still, it's money we are

Due to the possibility of inclement weather, I don't think it would be safe for the girls to come all the way out here and potentially get stuck.

I'll keep an eye on the roads between now and then.

As far as the Divorce.. not sure what you're doing, but we're just wasting time. I'm really running out of patience here. Might as well just be an adult and deal with what we need to deal with sooner than later.. because it's coming whether you like it or not, and whether it takes two years, five years or ten, we can't move forward until we deal with what we need to deal with.

One day, I'll be back in the home we built our children's lives in.. where all my stuff is, my kids are, and what I need to provide for them. Same song and same dance. That was our matrimonial home since day 1, and it would be a lot easier for everyone if you would put your fake new life with Damen on hold for a minute so we can take care of business, I can be given time to fix this and transition NEAR-BY the kids, and we can move on.

You can't just take all of that away from someone because you feel entitled to it. What if the same happened to you? How would you feel?

Anyways,

Bye

Morgan,

So at the start of case, you not only traveled across state lines to receive assistance in filing fraudulent paperwork to secure an advantage in the divorce, made false allegations leading to the destruction of our kids status quo, but you went as far as claiming the case was uncontested?

In what universe did you think you would get away with this?

I've requested the affidavit of inability you filed, and if it comes back with fraudulent statements such as claiming the girls as dependants or fabricating my income and your financial obligations or my financial obligations, I will be contacting local law enforcement because this is atrocious and blatant criminal activity.

I've already verified dmb575 is Dan's paypal.

You really need to start thinking about the big picture here Morgan.

Morgan,

When you first announced your desire for a divorce, you told me that you had a plan in place.

You said the marriage was destroyed because of how I talked to you and assured me that the girls' lives wouldn't be worse, just "different."

You insisted there were no affairs, and that this decision was in the best interest of the kids. But then you dismissed over 16,000 texts between Debbie and Damen as "emotional support" and brought Damen around our children daily.

He's been telling my children good night, acting as though he belongs in their lives after I was removed.

You promised stability for the girls, but all I see is chaos. You've introduced someone into their world who doesn't belong, and their security has been shattered. Everything you've done since then contradicts your original reasons.

You then proceeded to create a false narrative of protection. You changed phones, got this second email, and got mace.

This was never about what's best for the kids—it's about your priorities, and sadly, they revolve around everyone except our family.

You've reduced your own employment, made no effort to find full-time work, and continually put your selfish agenda ahead of the kids' well-being.

You claim to have an attorney, yet she only surfaces to ambush me in court. You justify your actions because you can't think for yourself—you've let others, like Debbie and Damen, dictate your life and decisions. They've injected themselves into our family's situation without understanding or caring about the consequences, and then you hire an attorney who has never had children and shares the same flaws: no communication and can't think for herself (compelled by Kaitcer to represent you)

For years, you took advantage of me—never carrying your weight, always putting everything else above the kids.

You used to be a great mom, but since Debbie and Damen entered your life, you've become someone entirely different.

You blame me for everything, but the evidence tells a different story.

You cling to false allegations of violence and drug use, bringing them up only when it benefits you. If these concerns were real, you would've acted long ago. And if you weren't hiding something, you wouldn't be telling Mara things like, "you still love me deep down inside", which only confuses them further. You should listen to your heart, because that's the only good thing I've heard from you since this all started.

You're hurting and confusing our children. You've destroyed the work I dedicated countless hours to build for them, and you have neither the ability nor the ambition to replace it. You're doing exactly what I feared—reverting to someone who relies on her grandparents and uses those around her. But this time, it's not just about you—your decisions are directly impacting our children's future.

You don't help them with school. You don't take them anywhere fun. You consistently prioritize your friends, Debbie and Damen, over the kids, who are left feeling neglected. You point fingers at me, but your actions have left a trail of destruction.

When I'm nearby, Damen suddenly disappears. You think you're covering up your actions, but I know the truth. I've known the truth this entire time. You've done all of this to hide your own mistakes, including extramarital affairs, while gaslighting me—the only person who ever tried to provide for you—into believing everything was fine.

You lie and deceive both your family and the court to avoid being held accountable, and you think you hold power because of the court's errors and your attorney's personal connections.

You didn't even take the court-ordered parenting class, which proves you don't care about the kids. If you did, we wouldn't be here. You'd own up to your mistakes like an adult, not place the blame on me while running from accountability like a child.

The statute of limitations is running out to protect myself against the actions taken against me, and I've been more than patient. I've been taunted by Dan who says egregious things like he's been "thoroughly enjoying watching me get denied", and your own grandmother has called expressing her concerns about the kids and that "you're not acting like yourself."

You can't undo the damage you've caused, and one day the kids will see it all. They already tell me how you never spend time with them, how you're always on the phone with friends, and how they're constantly pawned off on your grandparents.

Who are you? You're becoming the person you always said you'd never be.

I'll always give Morgan a chance, but this isn't you. Your complete lack of communication is inexcusable. You got what you wanted by lying, and now you think you can reduce me to nothing more than a child support payment and live your new fantasy with Damen.

When will you understand that I will never stop fighting to protect our children and secure their future?

You, on the other hand, are lost, and will have to explain to these girls one day why you chose to destroy their family at such a critical time of year and without ever providing any real answers, only introduce a new figure into their life as a replacement for their Father.

But you know what? Despite all of this.. I still love you. And I'm sorry for everything I did regarding the marriage. And no, not somewhere deep down. Still strong on the surface of my heart. These words come from there and nowhere else.

The critical difference is what you've done here is unrepairable on your own. It's a total disregard for the last decade of effort. You need my help fixing what you've damaged.

The point is - if I'm able to go through all of this - and still be here and am able to realize that there's a better way for our kids than the current path.. why can't you?

The world doesn't have to know.

You married me for a reason Morgan, the same as I did you.

We've had our issues, but so does everyone. One thing is for certain: up until all We've had our issues, but so does everyone. One thing is for certain: up until all of this started - we provided a perfect life for our kids.

But your fantasy world is more important now and it's sad to see.

You blamed me for the marriage, but whos' fault is it now? Is it still mine? Have you tried putting yourself in my shoes, or the kids' shoes? Doing so makes the current situation anything but logical. It's sickening.

We all make mistakes. That doesn't mean we can destroy everything so we may run away from them.

That doesn't mean we tell our kids that their vacations weren't good.

It's not too late to turn this around, but we're running out of time.

You're going to have to explain yourself eventually, and to the kids as well. Will you lie to them, too? Because again, the evidence tells a different story, and when they are old enough to think for themselves, they'll see it clearly.

The only people who don't are the ones you associate with, your attorney who can't follow the law, and the judges who got caught condoning this behavior when I fired Dan Bacalis.

There is no legal basis to justify the current arrangement, and it will inevitably be corrected. Each day you allow yourself to go by is another day the kids lose.

It's time to grow up, Morgan. You're almost in your mid 30s, and expect a lifestyle that was afforded to you by the Husband you discarded like trash, lied to, and cheated on multiple times.

The reality you see around you now is the stability that's lacking which was provided by my efforts to support you and the kids. You expect that same level of stability and support while depriving me of my vehicle to make it happen, and this can't change until time is given.. no matter how much time passes.

And yet, again, I still love you.

That's how I know I'm going in the right direction.

Please wake up. These kids only have one childhood.

All I know is that at the end of the day - I can tell our children I did everything in my power to ensure that their future was protected.

Can you say the same?

You can't fix this. I can't fix this.

We can fix this.

Nobody else can.

Whether we're married or not. For our children.

Besides, what's the end goal here?

The bubble you're currently living in May support your decisions. Will the world?

I've rejected 4 media interviews because #1 you know i hate that shit, and #2 out of respect for your privacy.

People are interested in this story. Not because of the things leading up to it - but because of what's happening in the court given Tarrant county has been known for abusive practices in family law.

I'm interested in my kids future.

Period.

This is my last attempt to get through to you.

I've done all I can, and I'll be able to prove it to the kids when they're older and have questions that I tried my very hardest.

Also I won't be able to get them on Thursdays after this week due to distance.. and won't be able to take them to school on Mondays.

Tried staying around here as long as i could but can't sustain.

I sent you a certificate of conference for temporary orders pursuant to the local rules in a good faith effort on Tuesday.

I'm filing it with the Court at 3:50 pm and won't be serving it to you until 10 days before the hearing as I'm requesting it be granted without notice and hearing given the circumstances and whats transpired over the case regarding the disregard for procedural rules and the damage that's been done.

I'm requesting the court strike all pleadings prior to January 22nd, 2024 other than the rule 12 motion to show authority and the summary judgement, and am asking for a reasonable amount of time to transition which is what I've asked for since the beginning.

Not requesting any injunction or custody determinations until a hearing on the merits can be held, and im requesting the court dispense with the necessity of a bond on behalf of the kids and on behalf of us to preserve the status quo that's been destroyed without a second thought.

Nothing against you just gotta do what I gotta do for the kids since nobody wants to communicate and the recovery period and allow for the status quo some time to be reset.

I have all financial documents and affidavits needed and have several people willing to fly to Texas to testify on my behalf regarding work.

I also have an expert witness that will be testifying as well if we go to trial, which I'll file the necessary documents for prior to the next scheduled hearing in accordance with statute.

I'm also invoking laches doctrine which prevents any new claims that weren't served or disclosed before from being brought up due to unreasonable delay and to prevent

Good evening!

I just saw this email from Mr Myers. I don't plan on responding, unless you think there's something specific I should say. I obviously do not agree to his terms. Would it be best to let the 48 hours run out and force his hand to make a motion? Would that work the same way as if he were to schedule a hearing for the Rule 12?

Thank you!

Morgan,

Pursuant to Tarrant County Local Rule 4.01(10)(b) and in accordance with the provisions of the Texas Family Code, this letter serves as formal notice of Respondent's intent to file for temporary orders with the Court on 09/26/2024. This communication constitutes a good faith effort to resolve the matters at hand without necessitating judicial intervention.

1. Residency and Custodial Arrangements

The Respondent will not seek an injunction for exclusive use of the residence during the recovery period, as the primary concern for maintaining the residency is based on financial necessity rather than any intention to deprive you of your home or access to the children. The Respondent will request primary joint conservatorship during the recovery period to protect the status quo of the children. This arrangement will remain in place until Respondent is able to secure alternative housing in close proximity, should you choose to waive the option of cohabitation, as described below, to ensure the children remain in their home during the transition.

2. Business Losses and Financial Impact

The abrupt exclusion from the residence has significantly hindered Respondent's ability to operate his business, resulting in a 41% loss of clientele and a 50% decrease in revenue. This not only affects Respondent's financial stability but also impedes the ability to support the minor children.

To remedy this, the Respondent will demand a recovery schedule that grants 1.25 days for each day of missed parenting time and property deprivation. This is to address not only the lost time with the children but also the financial losses incurred due to the combined actions of your attorney and the trial court which stemmed from your initial pleadings. You may remain in the residence during this period; however, if this arrangement proves impractical or undesirable, Respondent will petition the Court for primary conservatorship under Texas Family Code § 156.101, thereby modifying the current custodial order to reverse the conservatorship roles.

Upon your response, Respondent will furnish documentation substantiating these losses, including financial statements, client termination records, and revenue reports, in compliance with Texas Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 194 regarding disclosure of information.

3. Validity of Current Temporary Orders

Given that the current orders have been filed by an attorney potentially lacking proper authority to represent you, they potentially contravene Texas Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 12 and the Texas Disciplinary Rules of Professional Conduct. Furthermore, Respondent was not served with any supporting motion as mandated by Texas Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 21a, and the orders were entered as "agreed" despite Respondent's prior withdrawal of consent, rendering them voidable under Texas precedent.

Given these procedural deficiencies, the ongoing appeal to the Supreme Court of Texas, and the question of authority regarding your attorney - there exists a substantial likelihood that the current temporary orders may be declared rightfully void ab initio, which will require new orders be put in place. Respondent seeks to address and rectify this matter amicably, without further court involvement with orders that truly suit the children's best interests.

The rushed nature of the decisions made here now have wasted an extraordinary amount of time, and Respondent believes the terms of these orders are the quickest way to a final decree of divorce at this time.

4. Financial Support Obligations

To promote the welfare of Mara and Caroline during the recovery window, Respondent agrees to:

- Resume payment of $800 per month in rent for the marital residence to Margie Evonne Wilson and will seek a temporary injunction enjoining her from harassing, threatening, or otherwise disturbing the peace of the Respondent or the Children during the recovery period.

- Assume financial responsibility for both vehicles, including payment for associated insurance and Respondent's phone services.

- Secure health insurance coverage for the minor children.

- Cover 100% of all medical, dental, and psychological expenses incurred on behalf of the children.

The Respondent will further seek that the court requires child support payments amounting to 10% of your net monthly income during the recovery period.

5. Damages Incurred

To date, Respondent has incurred damages totaling $22,560, encompassing:

To date, Respondent has incurred damages totaling $32,560, encompassing:

- Business losses due to decreased clientele and revenue.

- Additional living expenses stemming from the change in residence.

- Other related costs directly associated with the current situation regarding the ability to exercise visitation with Mara and Caroline.

- Detailed documentation supporting these damages, including expense reports and financial records, will be provided upon your response for purposes of transparency and potential restitution.

6. Request for Temporary Injunction

The Respondent will seek a temporary injunction to preserve the status quo and protect the financial interests of the minor children during the recovery period. Respondent will request that the Court waive the requirement of a bond under 105.001(d) of the Texas Family Code for the welfare of Mara and Caroline given that the injunction aims solely to safeguard the welfare of the children.

7. Next Steps and Request for Response

In light of the pending Rule 12 motion challenging the authority of your current counsel, Respondent is directing this correspondence to you personally. You may forward this correspondence to Ms. Carter if you deem necessary.

Upon your response, Respondent is prepared to provide all relevant documentation and answer any questions pertaining to:

- The calculated damages and financial losses incurred.

- The loss of clients and revenue impacts.

- Any other pertinent information necessary for the resolution of this matter.

- The need for the residency

- The logistics moving forward

Respondent remains committed to reaching an equitable and swift resolution in the best interests of Mara and Caroline, in accordance with Texas Family Code § 153.002. The current trajectory must be reassessed, and this is another opportunity to do so.

If no response is given within 48 hours, or if no meaningful conversation can be obtained, I will be filing the Motion for Temporary Orders with the court.

Despite the damage done, that doesn't mean that things can't begin to turn around for Mara and Caroline's sake.

After the recovery, we can revisit custody arrangements and visitation schedules to determine what's best for all parties once an alternate residency is secured to preserve the financial stability of the children.

Please provide a written response within 48 hours of receipt of this letter. Failure to respond will compel Respondent to proceed with filing the motion and to certify to the Court that reasonable efforts were made to resolve these matters without judicial intervention, as required by Tarrant County Local Rule 4.01(10)(b).

Best,

Charlie
