EMERGENCY EX-PARTE JOINT
MOTION FOR CHILD CUSTODY,
SOLE USE OF THE MATRIMONIAL
RESIDENCE, TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER,
SANCTIONS, CONTEMPT, AND
NOTICE OF PAST-DUE FINDINGS OF
FACTS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

TO THE HONORABLE DAVID L. EVANS, REGIONAL PRESIDING JUDGE OF THE 8TH ADMINISTRATIVE REGION OF TEXAS:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. The policy of this State regarding divorce with children is clear. It is to “assure that children will have frequent and continuing contact with parents who have shown the ability to act in the best interest of the child.” TEX. FAM. CODE 153.001. The Texas legislature has also made it clear that the best interest of the child “shall always be the primary consideration of the court in determining the issues of conservatorship and possession of and access to the child.” TEX. FAM. CODE 153.002 (emphasis added).

The word always appears just once within the text of the Family Code, and it re-enforces the State’s policy by ensuring the best interest of the child standard is always applied; on all occasions – the literal definition of always.

2. Here, in the instant case, this court has enabled a deliberate scheme orchestrated by the Petitioner, MORGAN MICHELLE MYERS, to escape accountability. This has left the children without either parent, without the stability they had known their entire lives, and without the financial and emotional support which had been provided to them by the Respondent up until this court’s intervention on January 16, 2025.

3. This emergency has been ongoing for several months, and not one trace of engagement or opposition can be found on this docket from the opposing side. The recusal motion filed on October 7, 2024, was a strategic move in a larger strategy designed to force the ball into the opposing counsel’s hands to highlight her inability to prosecute the case, respond to any pleadings, or serve pleadings via the EFM as required by law. See Tex. R. Civ. P. 21(f)(1). This in and of itself warrants immediate attention.

4. This emergency motion seeks the immediate restoration of the Respondent’s parental rights, immediate restoration to his residency, a temporary restraining order against the Petitioner to prevent any further harm or disruption to the Children’s status quo, and for sanctions, contempt, and an emergency stay pending a trial on the merits.

5. In support of this emergency motion, the Respondent reasserts the following unopposed facts:

II. ONGOING IRREPRABLE HARM

6. On January 16, 2024, this Court unilaterally severed the meaningful and sustained paternal engagement of a dedicated father in his children's daily lives, despite clear and compelling evidence of his active role in fostering their intellectual, emotional, and psychological development. This abrupt and unwarranted disruption of a foundational parental bond has precipitated severe instability in the children's structured routine and psychological well-being. Under Tex. Fam. Code § 153.002, which unequivocally asserts that "the best interest of the child shall always be the primary consideration of the court," the exclusion of a fit and involved parent represents a manifest deviation from established statutory principles.

7. The court's initial determination was subsequently exploited to coerce the Respondent into a settlement agreement that remains operative, though it lacks substantive judicial scrutiny and legitimacy. This agreement, a perfunctory legal document drafted by the Petitioner's counsel, COOPER L. CARTER—who lacks the requisite standing to represent the Petitioner in this matter—erroneously purports that the imposed orders reflect a mutual accord and serve the children's paramount interests.

8. Since the Petitioner's unlawful and unilateral expulsion of the Respondent from his residence on March 6, 2024, the stable and structured living conditions of the children have been systematically dismantled. Deprived of direct parental care and economic stability, the children have been subjected to profound and sustained disruption. Furthermore, the Petitioner has demonstrated a pattern of medical negligence, having failed to provide necessary dental care for the youngest child, whose untreated cavities remain an urgent and unresolved health concern.

9. The children now exist under the intermittent supervision of extended family members in an unstructured and ad hoc manner. One such individual, CAITLIN WILSON, who has taken up residence in the former matrimonial home, possesses no parental credentials or experience. Despite her lack of qualification, she has assumed disciplinary authority over the children, an overreach that has resulted in confusion and on at least one occurrence, physical bruising on one child's arm.

10. The Petitioner has deliberately obstructed the children's communication with the Respondent, has discarded his personal property still located within the matrimonial home, and facilitated the routine presence of her extramarital partner in the children's domestic sphere. These actions illustrate a gross indifference to the children's emotional security and a flagrant breach of fundamental parental ethics and moral considerations.

11. The children, once flourishing in academic and extracurricular pursuits, have now been entirely stripped of these essential developmental activities. They have accrued numerous unexcused school absences and, during their limited interactions with the Respondent, consistently express distress and uncertainty regarding his return to their daily lives, something they need and expect.

12. The Petitioner has established a pattern of neglect, frequently leaving the children unattended overnight without adult supervision. The Respondent's only viable means of interaction with his children is through intermediaries, specifically the Petitioner's elderly grandparents, or through an online video game platform, ROBLOX, which provides a limited forum for communication.

13. Despite prior representations to this Court attesting to her intent to act in the children's best interests, the Petitioner's actions unequivocally demonstrate a prioritization of her own personal desires over the well-being of her children. Her persistent obstruction of the Respondent's parental rights and her reckless disregard for the children's stability have engendered ongoing, irreparable harm, necessitating urgent judicial intervention.

14. This Court has, in effect, granted unchecked authority to a vindictive parent, allowing her to systematically dismantle the children's stability, neglect their access to medical care, and deliberately engineer financial ruin by misleading the Court to secure the wrongful eviction of the Respondent. Despite these grave allegations being raised repeatedly, the Court has failed to demand accountability or address the substantive concerns. The Petitioner has further neglected to secure health insurance for the children, exacerbating their vulnerabilities, while even her own grandparents have corroborated the concerns raised in this motion regarding the children's deteriorating well-being.

15. Notwithstanding the Petitioner's egregious misconduct, the Respondent has maintained text and video evidence underscoring his ability to sustain a positive and collaborative relationship with the grandparents, who share his commitment to the children's best interests. This court must act now, and Texas law and standing precedent entitles this relief to Respondent and his minor children as a matter of law, and such relief would serve the best interests of his children.

III. LEGAL BASIS

A. Emergency ex-parte custody orders.

16. Texas law permits a court to issue an ex-parte emergency order modifying child custody only if there is immediate danger to the child's physical or emotional well-being. Texas Family Code § 105.001 grants courts authority to issue temporary orders "for the safety and welfare of the child," including orders modifying conservatorship and possession. The unilateral expulsion of the Respondent from the children's lives has destabilized their structured routine and deprived them of critical emotional and financial support. The Petitioner's documented history of obstructing communication, medical neglect, absences from school, and the placement of an unqualified third party in a disciplinary role over the children creates a direct and ongoing risk of harm.

17. The Respondent's allegations, supported by evidence and unopposed, satisfy the statutory burden required under Texas Family Code §§ 105.001 and 156.006(b)(1). The children's best interest necessitates immediate relief restoring the Respondent's access to his children and reestablishing a stable custody arrangement.

B. Exclusive use of the marital residence.

18. Texas courts have the authority to award exclusive use of the marital home during a pending divorce or custody dispute when necessary for the protection and stability of the children. See Texas Family Code § 6.502. In re Fallon Brown, No. 10-23-00046-CV (Tex. App.—Waco 2023, orig. proceeding), emphasizes that courts should consider the impact of disruption when determining exclusive occupancy of a home. The impact would be significant as it would restore the Respondent's ability to provide for his children, would restore an active and involved parent into their lives, and would prevent the third parties from assuming a parental role during the pendency of the case. The Petitioner has several alternative housing options which are in close proximity to the matrimonial home, a far better solution than the current situation provides for the children.

19. Given these circumstances, the Respondent meets the legal burden for exclusive use of the home until a final hearing on the merits notwithstanding the procedural bias that he has suffered over the last year.

C. Temporary Restraining Order (TRO)

20. A Temporary Restraining Order (TRO) may be granted ex-parte to prevent imminent and irreparable harm. Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 680 states that a TRO may be issued without notice if “immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage will result before notice can be given and a hearing held.” If not granted, the children will continue to be without either parent, and will lack the much needed guidance that Respondent is able to provide. Texas Family Code § 105.001(b) provides that a TRO in a child custody case does not require the standard “irreparable injury” showing required in other civil matters.

21. The Petitioner’s obstruction of the Respondent’s access to his children, disposal of his property, and reckless introduction of unstable living conditions creates an urgent need for court intervention.

22. A TRO against the Petitioner is necessary to:

i. Restrict the Petitioner from further interfering with the Respondent's custodial rights and disposing of his personal, separate property.

ii. Prevent any further removal of the children from their established routines and access to necessary medical care.

iii. Ensure that the Respondent's rights to communication and property are protected until a full hearing on temporary orders can be held or until the case is inevitably dismissed for want of prosecution.

D. Child support

23. At present, there exists no legally recognized child support arrangement for the minor children. The existing judicial directives are void ab initio, unenforceable, and were fraudulently procured. The Petitioner has historically refrained from seeking gainful employment, only recently making efforts to secure work. This shift in employment status transpired subsequent to the deliberate and strategic diminution of the Respondent's earnings from an annual income exceeding $96,000 to a mere $12,000, a direct and foreseeable consequence of the court orders obtained through misrepresentation and procedural manipulation.

24. The Respondent's reintegration into his children's lives is not only essential to fostering a meaningful parental relationship but also pivotal in establishing a legitimate and enforceable child support framework. Furthermore, this reintegration will contribute to rectifying the significant financial detriment inflicted by the Petitioner, which presently surpasses $90,000 in quantifiable losses. Despite this, the Respondent is committed to ensuring that the Children maintain a relationship with their Mother.

E. Sanctions and Contempt

25. Courts maintain inherent authority to hold individuals in contempt and impose sanctions for noncompliance with judicial orders, perpetration of fraud upon the court, and the submission of materially false statements under oath. The Petitioner, in concert with her legal counsel, has exhibited a pattern of egregious disregard for ethical and procedural standards. The persistent failure to respond to legal filings, engage in substantive argumentation, or adhere to procedural obligations underscores a sustained course of misconduct and bad faith participation in the judicial process.

26. In the instant case, the Petitioner submitted fraudulent documents which were prepared in part by her Stepfather, Dan Branthoover, who is currently being sued in the Western District of Oklahoma for his involvement in this matter. The Petitioner has disregarded the well-being of her children, stripped away their financial stability, has made no effort to get them the medical care they need, and has now left them in the care of third parties who share similar concerns that are being raised within this motion. She fabricated her financial status, falsified the need for protection, and has made a mockery of individuals who truly rely on such tools for genuine protection.

27. This Court must not allow such flagrant abuse of the judicial system to go unchecked. The Petitioner's willful engagement in deceit and manipulation necessitates immediate and decisive action. Her fraudulent filings and continued bad faith conduct demonstrate an utter disregard for the integrity of the legal process. The Court should impose severe sanctions to deter further misconduct, including but not limited to monetary penalties, an adverse inference against her claims, and referral for criminal perjury investigation. Her actions not only undermine the credibility of these proceedings but also inflict tangible harm on those directly affected, particularly the children she has so callously neglected. Justice demands that this Court hold the Petitioner accountable for her egregious actions and enforce the full weight of its authority to prevent further perversion of due process.

F. Notice of past due findings of facts and conclusions of law

28. Should the court elect not to grant this motion forthwith as statutorily mandated, the Respondent formally reiterates the request for the outstanding findings of fact and conclusions of law, initially sought on March 26, 2024, concerning the extant orders.

29. Specifically, the Respondent petitions the court to elucidate the precise jurisprudential rationale underpinning the current orders, explicate the manner in which they purportedly serve the paramount welfare of the minor children, and delineate the evidentiary substratum upon which the court predicates its determinations.

30. The Respondent avers that pursuant to governing statutory and procedural directives, the court is obligated to render findings of fact and conclusions of law when properly and timely invoked. The absence of such findings materially impedes the Respondent's capacity to mount a cogent challenge or pursue an informed appellate review, thereby implicating due process guarantees and the overarching principles of procedural equity.

IV. CONCLUSION

31. In light of the foregoing, the Respondent respectfully submits that the egregious actions and persistent misconduct of the Petitioner have inflicted immediate and irreparable harm upon the minor children and have unjustly deprived the Respondent of his rightful and established role in their lives. The unilateral disruption of a nurturing and stable familial environment, coupled with the deliberate manipulation of judicial proceedings, not only undermines the fundamental best interest of the children as mandated by Tex. Fam. Code § 153.002 but also threatens their ongoing physical, emotional, and psychological well-being.

32. Respondent is committed to restoring the stability of his Children, maintaining an amicable relationship with the grandparents, and commit to getting healthcare for the Children, assisting them with their school-work, and ensure that their lives get back on track while fostering a meaningful co-parenting relationship with the Petitioner despite her actions.

V. PRAYER FOR IMMEDIATE RELIEF

33. For the reasons stated herein, and in the interest of preserving the well-being and stability of the minor children, the Respondent respectfully requests that this Court act expeditiously to restore equilibrium to the family unit and prevent further injustice.

34. Accordingly, the Respondent prays that this Honorable Court immediately grant the following relief without notice to the opposing party:

- i. Restoration of Parental Rights: Order the prompt and full restoration of the Respondent's parental rights, thereby reinstating his vital and direct involvement in the daily care, guidance, and support of his minor children.
- ii. Exclusive Use of the Matrimonial Residence: Grant the Respondent exclusive use of the marital residence during the pendency of the case, thereby safeguarding the children's stability and ensuring an environment conducive to their healthy development.
- iii. Issuance of a Temporary Restraining Order (TRO): Issue an immediate TRO against the Petitioner to prevent any further actions that could exacerbate the harm to the children, including, but not limited to, obstructing communication with the Respondent, disposing of his personal property, or otherwise disrupting the established custodial arrangements.
- iv. Sanctions and Contempt Findings: Impose appropriate sanctions and hold the Petitioner in contempt for her deliberate violations of judicial procedures, fraudulent representations, and actions that flagrantly undermine the integrity of these proceedings, and scrutinize her attorney's failure to abide by the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.
- v. Further Relief as Deemed Just and Proper: Grant any other relief that this Court may deem just and proper in order to protect the best interests of the minor children, to redress the significant financial and emotional detriment suffered by the Respondent, and to uphold the sanctity of the judicial process.

Respectfully submitted,

AFFIDAVIT OF CHARLES DUSTIN MYERS

I, Charles Dustin Myers, am the Respondent in above matter, and am the biological father of my minor children, whose welfare and stability have remained my paramount concern. Since the Court's intervention on January 16, 2024, I have been unjustly extricated from their lives, despite my demonstrable history as their primary caregiver and financial anchor. My presence has provided them with structured domesticity, intellectual enrichment, and consistent emotional reinforcement.

The Texas Family Code establishes the primacy of the child's best interests in judicial determinations of conservatorship and parental access. Notwithstanding this legal directive, my involuntary absence has precipitated substantial disruptions in their psychological and financial security. Their previously regimented daily schedule has been dismantled, yielding deleterious effects on their academic trajectory and medical welfare. They have foregone crucial healthcare, exhibited marked distress, and have vocalized persistent inquiries regarding my return. Moreover, the imposition of a non-parental figure as a disciplinary authority within their home has exacerbated their vulnerability and imposed unwarranted emotional duress.

I contend that the Petitioner, Morgan Michelle Myers, has strategically manipulated legal mechanisms to advance her personal objectives at the expense of our children's fundamental needs. Through the propagation of false assertions and procedural obfuscation, she has systematically obstructed my parental rights, expunged my personal property, and engineered a campaign of alienation. Her misrepresentations before the Court have precipitated adverse rulings, engendering further destabilization and compounding financial hardship. Despite these egregious circumstances, my commitment to my children remains resolute. It is imperative that I am reinstated in their lives to reestablish stability, ensure their continued educational and medical access, and furnish them with the emotional and structural continuity they have been unjustly denied. I am fully prepared to engage in a constructive co-parenting framework, mitigate the deleterious consequences of these proceedings, and reconstitute a nurturing, equilibrated environment for their development.

My petition to return to the marital residence is not predicated upon material possession but is instead an urgent endeavor to rectify the harm inflicted upon my children. The protracted deprivation of my presence has subjected them to undue hardship, and any further delay in remedial intervention will only intensify their distress. My steadfast objective is to reinstate their stability, safeguard their best interests, and restore a legally and ethically sound parental arrangement. To that end, I solemnly affirm my adherence to the highest standards of parental responsibility, including a commitment to respectful co-parenting and transparent judicial oversight through periodic status reports on their well-being.

I affirm under penalty of perjury that the statements made within this request for relief are true and accurate to the best of my knowledge, and affirm that despite the Petitioner's actions, I hold no ill-will against her and simply wish to uphold the level of care that my children have been accustomed to during this challenging time of their lives. All pleadings filed in this case have been in an effort to advocate for my children and were filed in a good faith effort to bring the facts, which are now undisputed, to this court's attention.

FURTHER AFFIANT SAYETH NOT.

health-care expense.

For the Court to hold the nonincurring conservator in civil or criminal contempt for failing to pay the nonincurring conservator's percentage of the unreimbursed portion of a health-care expense, the incurring conservator must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the nonincurring conservator personally received receipts, bills, statements, or explanations of benefits reflecting the unreimbursed portion of the health-care expense no later than thirty days after the incurring conservator received them. Even if the incurring conservator fails to meet that burden of proof, the Court may award the incurring conservator a judgment in the nature of child support against the nonincurring conservator in the amount of the unreimbursed portion of the health-care expense the nonincurring conservator was ordered but fail to pay.
