IN THE 322nd DISTRICT COURT OF TARRANT COUNTY, TEXAS

IN THE INTEREST OF M.E.M., C.R.M., two children)
MORGAN MICHELLE MYERS

Petitioner,

CHARLES DUSTIN MYERS,

MOTION TO DISQUALIFY COUNSEL

Respondent.

2025-05-05

TO THE HONORABLE COURT:

Respondent, CHARLES DUSTIN MYERS, hereby moves to disqualify COOPER L. CARTER, opposing counsel for Petitioner, MORGAN MICHELLE MYERS, from this matter, and in support thereof, shows the court the following:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. Cooper L. Carter was allegedly retained on January 22, 2024, in the lobby of the courtroom minutes before a scheduled reset hearing regarding a protective order originally filed on December 22, 2023. This hearing was due to begin in front of Associate Judge Jeff Kaitcer.

and her initial retainment led to the rescheduling of the matter for February 1, 2024. Her signature first appears on the document entitled “322ND FAMILY DISTRICT COURT ASSOCIATE JUDGE'S REPORT”. This initial pleading signed by Ms. Carter indicates that she was retained in her individual capacity, further reiterated in the FIRST AMENDED PETITION FOR DIVORCE, filed on January 30, 2024. Specifically, she states: “It was necessary for Petitioner to secure the services of Cooper L. Carter, a licensed attorney, to prepare and prosecute this suit.” (page 9)

2. Directly below this statement appears the letterhead MARX, ALTMAN & JOHNSON, a law firm operated by RODERICK D. MARX, the founder. To date, Mr. Marx’s signature does not appear on any pleadings filed in this matter. Notably, every pleading filed for the petitioner has been “On Behalf of Cooper Carter by Roderick Marx.” (page 11, Exhibit 4) In total, after fourteen months of litigation, Ms. Carter has had the Amended Petition for Divorce, a Motion for Pre-Trial Conference⁵, and a Motion to Consolidate filed on her behalf by Mr. Marx.⁶

II. AMBIGUITY

3. When turning to Ms. Carter’s public social media, the ambiguity becomes apparent. On her Facebook page, she claims to be a “Former Attorney at Marx, Altman & Johnson”.¹ On her LinkedIn profile, this is reiterated, where she claims to have worked for Marx, Altman & Johnson from December of 2020 until July of 2022, and claims to currently be employed with Caney Hangar LLP as well as with ‘Associate Attorney’². Finally, when viewing her Texas State Bar profile, she claims to be employed with Marx Altman & Johnson, with the last update being on November 5th, 2023. It's important to note that "Marx Altman & Johnson" is not the same as "Marx, Altman & Johnson", the comma being the differentiator. These points were discussed in the Rule 12 Motion to Show Authority filed and served to Ms. Carter on September 20, 2024, which remains unresolved. It's further concerning that Ms. Carter is unable to file documents herself using the Electronic Filing Manager as required by Rule 21a of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, as it is registered under her prior employer's email address under Caney Hanger.

III. GROUNDS FOR DISQUALIFICATION

4. A trial court has broad discretion to determine the consequences of professional misconduct. State Bar of Texas v. Kilpatrick, 874 S.W.2d 656, 659 (Tex. 1994). There is a strong presumption in favor of a party's right to counsel of choice, but this presumption can be overridden by considerations relating to the integrity of the judicial process and the fair administration of justice Gonzalez v. State, 117 S.W.3d 831 (Tex. Crim. App. 2003). If an attorney's dishonesty threatens the fairness of the proceedings or the public's confidence in the legal system, disqualification may be justified to preserve the integrity of the process.

5. However, disqualification is not automatic upon a finding of dishonesty. The court must find that the conduct has materially affected the proceedings or the rights of the parties. In other words, disqualification is considered a severe remedy and is reserved for cases where lesser sanctions would be inadequate to address the harm or protect the integrity of the proceedings. Courts are also mindful of the potential for disqualification motions to be used as tactical weapons and require a high standard of proof before granting such relief. See Spears v. Fourth Court of Appeals, 797 S.W.2d 654 (Tex. 1990). The courts also consider the severity and circumstances of the misconduct, the harm caused to clients or the profession, and the need to deter future misconduct. See Kilpatrick. In family law matters, where the stakes are often personal and the proceedings can be contentious, the court's primary concern is to ensure fairness and the proper administration of justice.

6. On May 9th, 2024, Ms. Carter reached out via email correspondence and requested that the Respondent fill out and sign an Income Withholding Order. After inspection, the Respondent determined that it was defective and requested that the document be corrected. No further correspondence came from Ms. Carter regarding the IWO.

7. The attached signature blocks raise serious doubts about their authenticity. In one version, the cursive signature "Holly L. Hayes" appears above a typed line, followed by a long list of attorneys (with State Bar numbers) ending in "ATTORNEY OF RECORD." In the other version, the same cursive "Holly L. Hayes" signature appears above the line, but the typed block below shows only "CHOYA BURKLEY" labeled as "ATTORNEY OF RECORD." These two versions cannot both be true. A single pleading cannot logically have two different attorneys designated as "Attorney of Record," nor can one attorney's handwritten signature be grafted onto a block naming another attorney. The inconsistencies strongly indicate that the signature block was manually altered or copied between documents, constituting a likely forgery.

8. Furthermore, upon inspection of the Certificate of Service, the font sizes are different, and it further points to the real possibility that this document was indeed forged. The timing of the document's service and the appearance of the signatures themselves also raise concern. In short, these discrepancies, while by themselves may not seem significant – when added into the mix of issues within this case – it answers more questions than it creates.

I certify that a true and correct copy of the foregoing has been served on the below listed parties or their representatives pursuant to Rule 21a, Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, on the 28th day of June, 2024.

Holly L Hayes
CHOYA BURKLEY
 ATTORNEY OF RECORD

9. The screenshots above are true and accurate depictions of the OAG Intervention

pleading filed in this case on June 28, 2025.³

³ See Exhibit.1

i. Multiple Names vs. Single Signatory

10. In the first image, eight attorney names (with SBNs) are listed under one signature line, whereas the second image shows only one name under the same signature. This suggests that an attorney's signature was replicated on two different sets of printed names. Under Texas law, every pleading "shall be signed by at least one attorney of record in his individual name".

See Tex. R. Civ. P. 57. It is improper to list multiple attorneys under a single signature or to designate more than one attorney as the attorney of record.

ii. Duplicate and Conflicting Names

11. The name Holly L. Hayes appears twice in the first block (once in script as the signature and again in print as one of the listed attorneys). In the second block, Holly L. Hayes appears only as the script signature, while CHOYA BURKLEY is the sole printed name with the title "Attorney of Record." Thus, one version implies Hayes is attorney of record and the other implies Burkley is. This direct contradiction – the same signature line paired with two different names – could only happen if the signature was misappropriated. No valid pleading would have one attorney sign their name while identifying another attorney as counsel.

iii. Inconsistent Formatting and Fonts

12. The mixture of cursive and all-caps text, the placement of underlines, and the alignment of titles differ markedly between the two blocks. For example, one shows an ornate underline beneath "Holly L. Hayes" and then a column of names, while the other has a plain signature line and only "CHOYA BURKLEY" below it. These typographical inconsistencies are not found in standard OAG filings. Legitimate Texas OAG child-support pleadings use a single, uniform signature block: one typed attorney name (with SBN and contact info) and the title

“Attorney of Record,” all aligned consistently. None of the OAG’s official pleadings include a handwritten signature of one lawyer placed over the typed name of another.

13. Taken together, the two images show a signature block that appears to have been copied or tampered with. The same handwriting is used in both, but the printed names and “Attorney of Record” designation do not match. This strongly suggests that an attorney’s actual signature (Holly Hayes’s) was duplicated onto a document that falsely names Choya Burkley as the attorney of record, or vice versa. Such conduct amounts to forgery or impersonation, misleading the court about who is actually representing the state.

IV. LEGAL STANDARD

i. Single Attorney Signature Required (Tex. R. Civ. P. 57)

14. Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 57 mandates that “Every pleading of a party represented by an attorney shall be signed by at least one attorney of record in his individual name, with his State Bar of Texas identification number...” By its plain terms, an attorney must personally sign pleadings. Listing multiple attorneys under one signature line, or having two different attorneys labeled as counsel on the same document, violates this rule. In a proper signature block, the printed name next to the SBN must match the person who signed.

ii. One Designated Attorney (Tex. Gov’t Code §402.029(b))

15. In child-support cases, the Attorney General must notify the parties of the specific “assistant attorney general who is the attorney of record in the case”. This statute assumes only one attorney-of-record at a time. The conflicting blocks here – one identifying Hayes and the other identifying Burkley as attorney-of-record – directly contravene this requirement. They falsely present two different individuals as the State’s attorney of record in the same case, which is impossible under §402.029.

iii. Standard OAG Practice

16. The OAG’s usual practice is to have a single attorney’s name and signature per pleading, with all contact information in one consistent block. Attorneys do not co-sign a single document by listing a group of names; rather, if multiple lawyers work on a case they each file separate notices or appearance forms. The aberrant format shown in the images has never been used in valid OAG submissions.

17. Because Texas law and OAG procedure require a single attorney of record to sign pleadings in his or her own name, the above anomalies strongly suggest fraud. If Ms. Hayes did not actually sign on behalf of Ms. Burkley (or vice versa), then the signature block is a fabrication: a signature was copied and paired with a false printed name. This undermines the integrity of the pleading and violates the attorney-signature rules. See Tex. R. Civ. P. 57. See also Tex. Gov’t. Code 402.029.

V. STANDARD FOR DISQUALIFICATION

18. Texas courts regard a motion to disqualify counsel as an “extraordinary remedy” that should be granted only for “compelling reasons.” Disqualification impinges on a litigant’s right to chosen counsel, so courts apply an “exacting standard” before ordering. As our Supreme Court explained in In re Sanders, 153 S.W.3d 54, 57 (Tex. 2004), quoting Spears v. Fourth Court, 797 S.W.2d 654, 656 (Tex. 1990), “[m]ere allegations of unethical conduct or evidence showing a remote possibility of a violation of the disciplinary rules will not suffice” to disqualify an attorney.

19. Nonetheless, where true misconduct has occurred – especially misconduct directly affecting the integrity of the proceeding – courts will act. As one court put it, “[t]o protect the integrity of the judicial system, a trial court must disqualify counsel when continuing representation will taint the trial.” In re Sanders, 153 S.W.3d 54, 57 (Tex. 2004). The moving party bears the heavy burden of proving disqualification is warranted. Id. Respondent readily meets that burden here, given Carter’s admitted violations of the Rules.

20. In disqualification motions, Texas courts consider all relevant rules: the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, statutory provisions, and the Texas Disciplinary Rules of Professional Conduct. Under Tex. R. Civ. P. 13, an attorney’s signature certifies that the pleading is not groundless or filed for any improper purpose. Rule 13 further provides that making “statements in pleading which [the signer] know[s] to be … false, for the purpose of securing a delay” is contemptible. Similarly, Rule 57 requires each attorney-of-record to sign pleadings with their own name and bar number. Violation of these procedural rules subjects the offending attorney to sanction. Tex. R. Civ. P. 215 authorizes a court to punish contempt or sanction parties for misconduct. Additionally, courts have inherent authority to enforce ethical standards: the Texas Supreme Court has instructed that trial judges have a duty “to regulate the legal profession when appropriate via the Texas Disciplinary Rules of Professional Conduct,” which are a “preeminent source for attorney disqualification” even though the Rules themselves are not.

iv. Carter’s actions warranting disqualification

21. Under the Disciplinary Rules, Carter’s actions are manifestly prohibited. Rule 3.03(a) (“Candor Toward the Tribunal”) forbids a lawyer from knowingly making false statements of material fact to a court or offering evidence the lawyer knows to be false.” Tex. Disciplinary R. Prof. Conduct 3.03(a). It also requires a lawyer to correct any previous material misstatement to the court. Rule 8.04(a)(3) classifies engaging in “dishonesty, fraud, deceit or misrepresentation” as professional misconduct. See Tex. Disciplinary R. Prof. Conduct 8.04(a)(3). Rule 1.03 (Diligence) obligates a lawyer to pursue matters zealously and not neglect a client’s case. Here, Carter's deliberate lies (March 14 orders), failure to correct them, and long-term neglect clearly violate these duties.

22. Because Carter's misconduct directly taints the proceedings, the Court need not wait for a disciplinary complaint. Instead, it may disqualify counsel in the interest of justice. Texas courts have done so when counsel's actions "prejudice[d] the fairness of the proceedings" or "violate[d] professional standards". While we respect the high standard for disqualification, Carter's admitted misdeeds are not "mere allegations" – they are proven by the record itself – and they strike at the heart of a fair trial.

23. Carter's conduct on March 14, 2024, is particularly egregious and independently justifies disqualification. Carter secretly drafted and filed temporary orders falsely characterizing them as "Agreed" by Respondent, even though Respondent was present and objecting at a hearing purposed to challenge them. This is a knowing misrepresentation of material fact to the court, in direct violation of Tex. Disc. R. Prof. Conduct 3.03(a)(1) and 8.04(a)(3). It also breaches her Rule 13 certification: by signing and presenting those orders, Carter certified they were not filed for an improper purpose or in bad faith, which they clearly were. Rule 13 explicitly punishes filing pleadings "which [the signer] know[s] to be groundless and false" with contempt. This rule was violated here.

VI. CONCLUSION

In totality, Ms. Carter's conduct mirrors not that of a zealous advocate, but rather that of an attorney who has knowingly misled the tribunal, neglected her duties, and corrupted the procedural integrity of these proceedings. Her submission of fabricated "agreed" orders on March 14, 2024 — at a hearing specifically scheduled to challenge those very orders — is not only unethical, it is a knowing misrepresentation of material fact, in direct violation of Rule

3.03(a)(1) and Rule 8.04(a)(3) of the Texas Disciplinary Rules of Professional Conduct. See In re Meador, 968 S.W.2d 346, 351 (Tex. 1998) (noting that "lawyers must be held to the highest standards of honesty and candor when dealing with the courts").

Additionally, Ms. Carter's failure to appear at the March 14 hearing, failure to respond to challenges, her repeated use of defective or unauthorized signature blocks, and failure to comply with Rule 57 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, collectively evidence a pattern of misconduct that is not merely negligent — it is willful, strategic, and fundamentally prejudicial. Courts have long held that when counsel's conduct "taints the trial," disqualification is not only permitted — it is required. In re Sanders, 153 S.W.3d 54, 57 (Tex. 2004); Spears v. Fourth Ct. of Appeals, 797 S.W.2d 654, 656 (Tex. 1990).

Under Rule 13 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, an attorney's signature certifies that pleadings are grounded in fact and law and are not brought for any improper purpose. Filing knowingly false temporary orders without a Motion to Sign, and misrepresenting an agreement never made, constitutes sanctionable conduct. See Nath v. Tex. Children's Hosp., 446 S.W.3d 355, 361 (Tex. 2014) (reiterating that sanctions are appropriate where pleadings are made in bad faith and lack evidentiary support).

Furthermore, the potential forgery or misappropriation of the OAG attorney's signature constitutes a separate and grave violation of Rule 57 and Texas Gov't Code § 402.029. Courts have the inherent authority to sanction and disqualify attorneys for forging or misusing names to file official pleadings. State Bar of Tex. v. Kilpatrick, 874 S.W.2d 656, 659 (Tex. 1994); In re C.F., Jr., 141 S.W.3d 907, 913 (Tex. App.—San Antonio 2004, no pet.) (affirming sanctions where a party filed enforcement pleadings based on fictitious orders and failed to appear for hearing).

Finally, even if Ms. Carter's conduct did not amount to outright fraud, disqualification would still be proper given her ongoing dereliction of duty — a year of non-prosecution, procedural noncompliance, and abandonment of her responsibility to inform the Court of her role and authority. The continued presence of such an attorney in this proceeding actively prejudices Respondent, impairs the integrity of the record, and casts a shadow over every action taken in the case. See In re S.G.B., No. 05-23-00684-CV, 2025 WL 1632427, at *5 (Tex. App.—Dallas Mar. 13, 2025) (mem. op.) (“Bad faith conduct that disrupts core judicial functions warrants sanction and potential disqualification”).
